BOB CASTELLINI

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

On Nov. 2, 2005, the Cincinnati Reds announced that the controlling interest in the club would be acquired by a group of Cincinnatians led by Robert H. Castellini, Chairman of Castellini Company.

Other members of the group acquiring the controlling interest include Thomas L. Williams and W. Joseph Williams, Jr., President and Chairman, respectively, of Cincinnati based North American Properties.

The sale of the club was completed on Jan. 19, 2006, and Mr. Castellini assumed control of the Club as its Chief Executive Officer.

Mr. Castellini has been involved in Major League Baseball for close to 40 years. His involvement included a minor interest in the Cincinnati Reds as part of the Williams family ownership until that interest was sold in 1984. He became a partner in the Texas Rangers in 1989 and the Baltimore Orioles in 1993. From 1995 until 2006 Mr. Castellini was a major partner in the St. Louis Cardinals. His interest in the Cardinals was sold as a condition of his acquisition of the Cincinnati Reds.

Mr. Castellini has been the Chairman of Castellini Group of Companies since 1992, following tenures as Executive Vice President from 1967–1970 and President from 1970–1992. The Castellini Company businesses include perishable distribution, food processing, public warehousing, transportation logistics and leasing.

In 1963, he graduated from Georgetown University with a degree in economics and after two years as an officer in the U.S. Army he received his MBA from Wharton Graduate School in 1967.

Mr. Castellini is very active in the Cincinnati community. He served as a member of the Board of Trustees for Xavier University as well as Chairman of Xavier's Development Committee, member and Past President of the Cincinnati Business Committee, a member of the Commercial and Commonwealth Clubs of Cincinnati as well as past president of both clubs, member of the Chief Executives Organization and Past President of the Young Presidents' Organization, Cincinnati Chapter. He donates his time as a board member of the Cincinnati Center City Development Committee (3CDC), chairman of the Joint Banks Steering Committee, Board Chair of Cincinnati Equity Fund and was instrumental in establishing the Good Samaritan Free Health Center and the Endowed Chair in Cardiothoracic Surgery at the Christ Hospital.

He has also been a member of the boards of directors for PNC Bank, Ohio and United States Playing Card Company, Comair Airlines, Babson College Board of Trustees, Denison University Board of Trustees and President of the Queen City Club. Mr. Castellini has been Chairman of the Boards of Trustees for both Tri Health, Inc., the Good Samaritan Hospital and the Cincinnati Zoo, a Board of Trustees member for the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center and the Cincinnati Art Museum.

Bob is married to Susie Castellini and they have four children and 12 grandchildren.

Grippo's®

SINCE 1919

THE OFFICIAL CHIP
OF THE
CINCINNATI REDS

Grippo's®

Grippo's was founded by Angelo Grippo in 1919. Known as the Grippo's Cone Company, it manufactured rolled sugar cones in a one-room office on Court Street in Cincinnati, Ohio. Grippo's added pretzels to their business and in 1923 began hand twisting and baking the traditional twist pretzel. In 1959, Grippo's added potato chips to its product line. Today, Grippo's continues to bring delicious snack foods to market, like Grippo's famous Bar-B-Q Potato Chips.

The third, fourth and fifth generations of the Grippo's family are committed to making the freshest, highest quality potato chips and snack foods you can eat. So when someone tells you to "get a grip" you know what they mean...get Grippo's! Grippo's is the original "Fun Food Company" because we've been having fun satisfying your craving for snack food for over 100 years.

Zac Brown Band Post-Game Benefit Concert 4-ALS

The Reds teamed up with Zac Brown Band for a special evening on June 2, MLB's Lou Gehrig Day, featuring a post-game concert following the Reds vs. Brewers game. A portion of the proceeds from all tickets sold for the game benefited the Hop On A Cure Foundation to fight ALS, which is commonly known as Lou Gehrig's disease. The foundation, was started by band member John Driskell "Hop" Hopkins and his wife Jennifer after the bass player was diagnosed with ALS in December 2021. A sellout crowd of 44,073 attended the show, setting a regular season record and topping the largest concert crowd in Great American Ball Park history. The event raised over $200,000 for the Hop On A Cure Foundation.

We're more than a name on the ball park

CLOSING TIME

THE MESSAGE OF REDS CLOSER ALEXIS DÍAZ TO OPPONENTS IS CLEAR: YOU DON'T HAVE TO GO HOME, BUT YOU CAN'T STAY HERE.

BY: BRENDAN HADER

In recent years, manager David Bell and the Reds have abided by the "closer by committee" mantra. The team has been hesitant to define one individual for the traditional role, which isn't uncommon in today's game. Many teams follow this practice, electing to use their best arms whenever the most vital situations present themselves.

There is not necessarily a right or wrong approach, as evidenced by teams having success that have employed both strategies. But there is something inherently valuable about having that guy, the one who all teams know lurks in the bullpen and essentially shortens a nine-inning game to eight, awaiting his chance to shut the door on any attempt at a comeback.

Since the turn of the century, the Reds have had a handful of players that were explicitly referred to and utilized as a closer. In the early 2000s, it was 2023 Reds Hall of Fame inductee and the franchise's all-time saves leader Danny Graves. Since then, it's been the likes of Francisco Cordero, Aroldis Chapman and Raisel Iglesias who seized their opportunity. But since the departure of Iglesias, it's been a mixed bag when it comes to who will take the mound in high-leverage situations.

Until now.

In only his second big league season, Alexis Díaz is that guy. To say he has taken the closing opportunity and run with it would be a gross understatement.

The sophomore hurler has been nothing short of dazzling to fans and dizzying to hitters. Whenever he takes the mound, it's almost always safe to gather up your jackets and move it to the exits.

"I'm just really honored that I was able to be named the closer," Díaz said. "And I think because of what I did last year, coming in the ninth inning in those higher leverage situations, I think that gave them the confidence that I would be able to close games now more than ever."

One of the biggest challenges for any pitcher is the mental aspect. Being able to have a short memory when a pitch, at-bat, inning or game doesn't go your way is a necessity. This is especially the case for a closer, who is almost always called upon with the game hanging in the balance.

When Díaz enters the game, it's almost always to either protect a tight lead or sustain a tie and give his team a chance to win in the next half frame. And he doesn't always emerge from behind the outfield wall with the bases empty and the setting just right. He might enter the picture to clean up someone else's mess—or even need to escape one he creates himself.

"It's all about my positive mentality that I take out there every time I go to the mound," he said. "Every pitch that I throw, I'm confident that I'm able to get the next guy out. I come in with the same mentality every time I go in to pitch. Whether there are guys on base or nobody on base—it doesn't matter what the situation is—I know that I have enough stuff to be able to get those guys out."

It's no surprise that his natural ability to absorb and handle the mental side of his closing job has been second nature when you consider who his brother is. Mets closer Edwin Díaz has been sensational since debuting in 2016 and caught the attention of the baseball world in 2022 with his unforgettable entrances from the bullpen to the song "Narco." The sound of trumpets not only signaled his arrival, but almost always signaled the opponent's demise.

The two brothers are very close and speak often. They appreciate each other's success but are also not afraid to disagree about something. So yeah, they're brothers.

"We're always talking," Díaz said. "Normally we FaceTime each other right after the game and he gives me tips like 'Hey I saw you do this and you maybe you should work on that, or man you did a heck of a job tonight,' things of that nature. Outside of baseball, we might talk about other sports like horse racing or something like that, because we like to have those other conversations too.

"We don't ever fight or anything, just have good communication with each other. Sometimes he'll tell me 'Why are you doing this,' and I'll tell him it's because I like to do it this way. But always in good fun, we never get in fights and always get along very well with each other. It's really nice to have him to give me those tips and help me out."

Those tips, along with his own talent and adjustments he's made with his coaches, have made for an outstanding first year and a half of his MLB career. Through June 13, the reliever was 18-for-18 in save opportunities, owning a 1.86 ERA with 50 strikeouts in only 29 innings pitched (30 games). Dating back to last season, he had successfully converted 23 consecutive saves.

In his third appearance this year, Díaz surrendered three earned runs to the Philadelphia Phillies. In his other 27 appearances, he allowed a total of two runs.

You could pick just about every game he's pitched in and find something that wows you. One of the most telling moments of the first half of his season was an outing in Miami on May 13. Ironically, it was one of the two other games he allowed a run.

Less than 18 hours after recording a 15-pitch save, Díaz had his number called again, and sooner than expected. Reliever Casey Legumina was selected for the eighth inning with the Reds clinging to a 6-4 lead. Legumina took a comebacker off his leg from the second batter he faced and was forced to leave the game with one out and a man on first.

Enter Díaz, tasked with retiring five batters. He coaxed a foul out and then struck out the final batter of the eighth. In the ninth, he struck out the first batter but saw the next three reach via walk, double, walk. After getting a fly out, Díaz walked his third batter of the inning to load the bases.

He didn't have his best stuff and was clearly fatigued. After the second walk, Bell came out to the mound with the intent to pull Díaz for Alex Young. But the Puerto Rico native wasn't having it.

"I'm going to finish this thing right now. No matter what," he told his manager.

And finish it he did. Three batters later, Díaz capped a gutsy, 40-pitch save with a strikeout, his third punchout of the game. The second-year man was demonstrative, letting out a yell and showing as much as emotion as he's displayed in his young career.

"It was an amazing performance by Alexis," Bell said. "It just showed how good he is, how competitive he is. Going out to the mound, I had every intention of going to Alex. I go out there, and just the conviction behind what he had to say and wanting to finish the game. Who am I to not give him that opportunity. And the rest of the infield made sure that I heard and understood what he was saying. Sometimes the best thing to do is stay out of it and let the players play."

That performance also showed just how important the strikeout is for someone in the closer position. The ability to get outs without putting the ball in play and allowing runners to advance or score is so important in those pivotal moments.

Through mid-June, the 26-year-old had recorded at least one strikeout in all but five of those 30 appearances. His 15.5 strikeouts per nine innings and 44.3% strikeout percentage both ranked among the league leaders, while his 1.8 WAR ranked second among all MLB relievers.

It requires true dominance to be considered for an All-Star nod as a reliever. Díaz certainly warranted serious consideration through the season's first 11 weeks and showed no signs of slowing down. He also recognizes he can't simply rest on last year's laurels to have the same or more success this year.

"I think I've changed a lot of things in my style of pitching this season," he said. "It's more about my command, and I've been able to control and attack the hitters as well as anybody. And my slider has been the biggest difference. I think I have more control of it and can throw it whenever I want to, so those have definitely been the two biggest changes this year."

With Díaz only getting better and solidifying his spot as the closer, it's hard not to compare No. 43 to those names from the past who have excelled in the role. The aforementioned group – Graves, Cordero, Chapman, Iglesias – make up four of the franchise's top-6 all-time saves leader. Graves leads the pack with 182 career saves as a Red; Cordero ranks second and owns four separate seasons with at least 34 saves, reaching 40 in 2010; Chapman reached the 33-save plateau on four separate occasions; and Iglesias managed two seasons of 30 saves or better, along with one at 28.

To build the resume of those pitchers and others from previous generations can't be done in one season. But the single-season saves record, held by current Reds broadcaster Jeff Brantley, sits at 44. And it's one that Díaz is well aware of.

"Yes, that's definitely something I've had in my mind and would love to get to," Díaz said of the record. "If I don't get to it this year, then that's my goal next year. But I've always had that in my mind that it's something I'd love to achieve."

As the younger Díaz continues to make a name for himself in Cincinnati and pursue records, the comparisons to his older brother will surely grow. And Alexis is OK with that. While he is ready to be his own person, as his play on the field has shown, he did draw on his brother Edwin for walkout song inspiration.

This season, Díaz is coming out of the center-field bullpen to "Matador" by Marnik and Miami Blue, an upbeat Spanish song featuring trumpets similar to "Narco." Fans at Great American Ball Park have quickly taken to it, and it hasn't gone unnoticed by Díaz. There was a game in particular that stood out. The Yankees came to town in mid-May, and Díaz took the field in the ninth inning in front of a packed house.

"It was awesome to see a full crowd that night, and to have the fans screaming and shouting really got me excited," he said. "I'm happy that the fans are really catching on to the song, so we'll see if it keeps going."

With success and the subsequent attention that accompanies it also comes the fascination with nicknames. Fans, media, teammates and others enjoy trying and pinpoint a nickname for a player that emerges into the spotlight, looking for the perfect fit. What that name, if anything, will be for Díaz remains to be seen, but we can safely cross his childhood nickname off the list.

"Actually back at home, they call me 'La Brea,'" he laughed. "We always played video games back home, and I was never very good at it, always the one that would be last. In Puerto Rico, we have something on the road, or pretty much the road, that's called 'la brea.' And that's all flat, so you're pretty much just dead out there. So that's why they called me that."

It shouldn't be difficult to come up with something more fitting and flattering for one of the most electric pitchers in the sport than a word that literally translates to "tar." But the best nicknames come naturally, so time will tell if something fits. Until that time, Reds fans might be able to help in another way—coming up with a celebration for earning a save.

This year, the Reds have famously bestowed a Viking helmet and fur cape onto any player who hits a home run. The celebration was the brainchild of former Reds pitcher Luis Cessa who was inspired by the look of Jake Fraley (for obvious reasons). Players also turn to the dugout and imitate a Viking rowing a longship after each base knock.

It's been a fun addition to the 2023 season that the players and fans have gotten behind, with the latter being seen at Reds games donning their own helmets.

But what about the pitchers? It only seems fair that they have their own celebration for securing a save or earning the final out of the game.

"We've never actually thought about that, but that's a good idea to bring up with the bullpen guys," Díaz said. "Maybe I'll talk with them and see what we can do when we close out games. It doesn't have to be a Viking thing, but maybe we can come up with something."

As long as Díaz and his bullpen mates keep locking down saves and earning W's, it's safe to say that Reds Country will do enough celebrating for them.

BRONSON ARROYO

(Pitcher, 2006-2013, 2017)

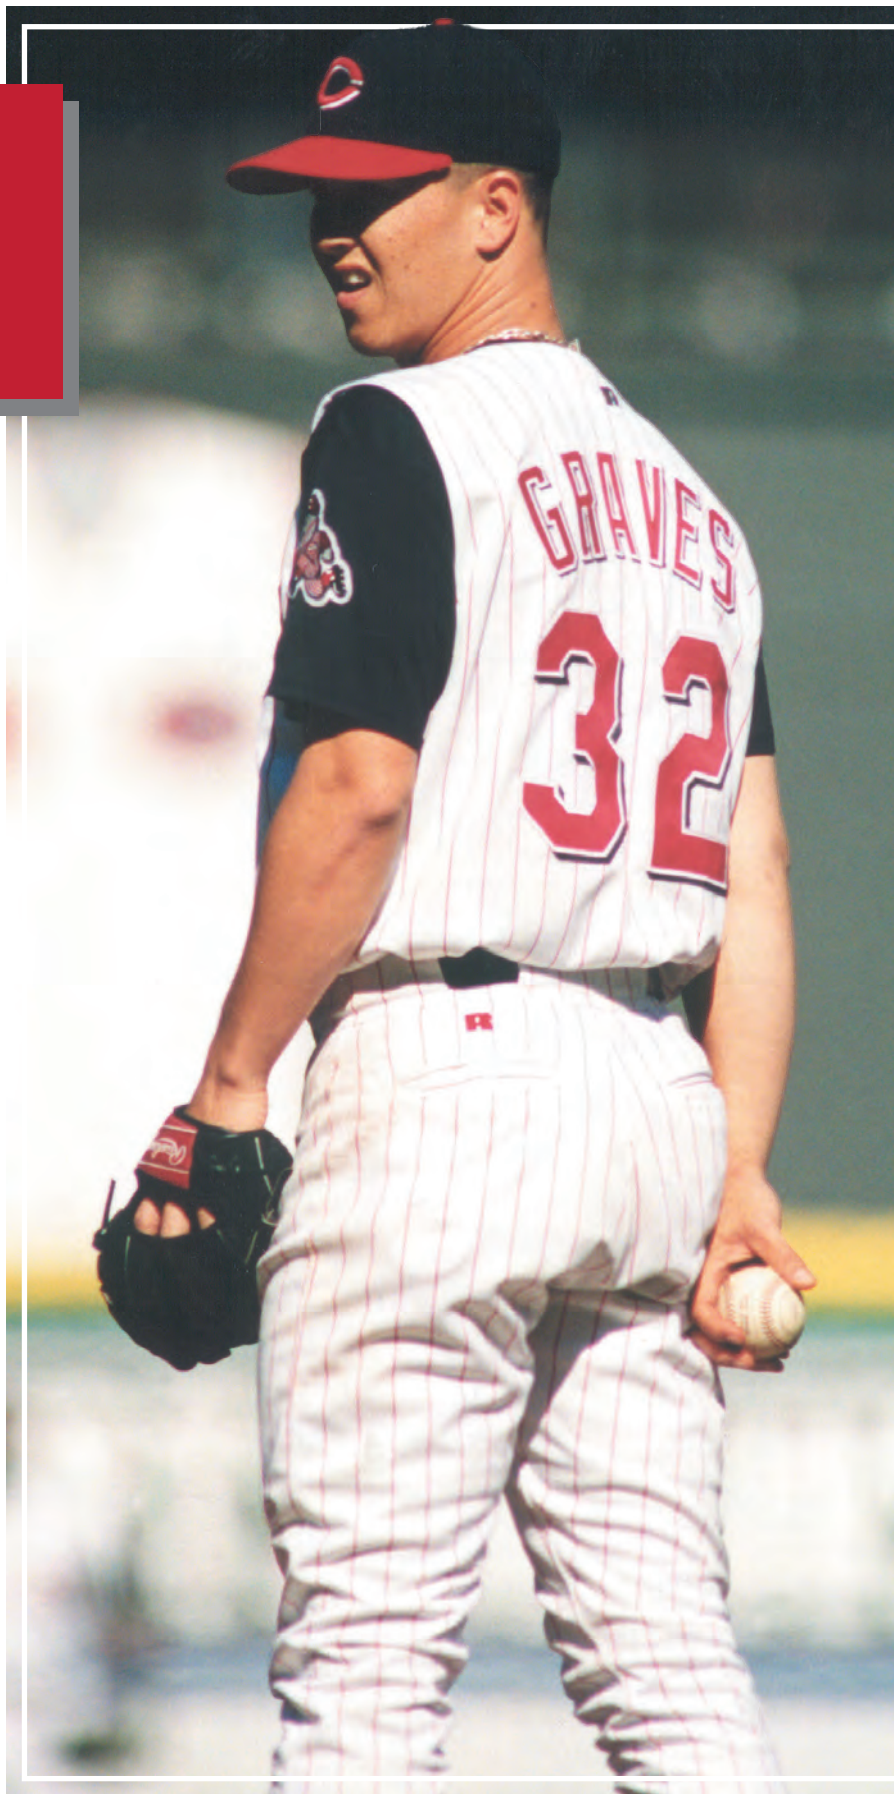

One of the most durable pitchers in Reds history and one of only two Reds pitchers to win a Rawlings Gold Glove Award, Bronson Arroyo pitched 200 or more innings in seven of his eight full seasons with the club and started 32 or more games in each of his eight full Reds campaigns. A 2006 National League All-Star, Arroyo paced the league in both innings pitched (240.2) and starts (35) that season. Arroyo led or tied for the club lead in games started seven times in his career and was the club's leader in innings pitched in five different seasons. In Reds history, only six pitchers have started more games for the club than Arroyo's 279 and his career total of 1,761.1 innings pitched has been topped by only 15 pitchers in franchise history. Arroyo led or tied for the club lead in victories in a season three times and won 12 or more games in a season six times during his Reds career including a career-best 17 wins during the Reds' 2010 National League Central Division championship season. He won Gold Glove honors that season and finished 12th in voting for the NL Cy Young Award. In 2012, he contributed 12 victories to the 97 wins recorded by the Central Division Champion Reds, a team victory total that has been exceeded by only seven other Reds teams. Relying on pitch location, movement and changing speeds, Arroyo struck out 1,157 batters as a Red, a total bested by only five pitchers in club history.

DANNY GRAVES

(Pitcher, 1997-2005)

The franchise's all-time leader in career saves with 182, Danny Graves was the Reds' primary closer in five of his seven full seasons with the club. Graves led the Reds in saves in each of those five seasons and is one of only seven pitchers in franchise history to lead the team in saves in four consecutive seasons. His 41 saves in 2004 rank third in franchise history for most saves in a single season. A National League All-Star in 2000 and 2004, Graves finished in the top 10 in the league in saves four times during his career. In 2000, he won both the Ernie Lombardi Award as the Reds' Most Valuable Player and the Johnny Vander Meer Award as the club's top pitcher. He is one of only five pitchers in franchise history to win each of these club honors. In franchise history, only four pitchers have totaled more games pitched with the Reds than Graves' 465. In 2002, Graves was the winner of the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award which is given annually to the player who best exemplifies the spirit and character of Lou Gehrig on and off the field. Danny Graves is the only Vietnamese-born player in Major League history.

GABE PAUL

(General Manager, 1951-1960)

One of the most impactful general managers in Reds history, Gabe Paul's tenure was marked by decisions that forever altered the trajectory of the franchise. Paul began his Reds career as the club's publicity director in 1936 and later became the club's traveling secretary. In 1949, he co-founded the annual Kid Glove Game. Promoted to general manager in 1951, Paul spearheaded the Reds' aggressive pursuit of African American players. The club's color barrier was broken with the arrival of Nino Escalera and Chuck Harmon in 1954 and, two years later, Frank Robinson made his debut. The first Red to win National League Rookie of the Year honors, Robinson was a linchpin on the 1956 Reds team that was in contention for the pennant until the last weekend of the season. That club tied the then-Major League record for home runs by a club in a season, and the excitement surrounding it resulted in the Reds' breaking the 1 million mark in home attendance for the first time in franchise history. Paul was named the Executive of the Year by the Sporting News following the 1956 season. Also at Paul's behest, the Reds focused on the cultivation of Latino talent. Paul established an affiliation agreement with the Havana Sugar Kings, a relationship that opened a rich pipeline of talent from Cuba that led to the signings of Tony Perez, Leo Cardenas and a host of other notable Latino players. Paul also traded for or signed a host of players who would make major contributions to the Reds including Gus Bell, Jerry Lynch, Jim Maloney, Jim O'Toole, Bob Purkey and Pete Rose, among many others. It was under Paul's watch that the foundation of the club's 1961 National League championship club was built and the first two cornerstones of the Big Red Machine, Perez and Rose, were acquired. And it was also during Paul's time as Reds general manager that the club worked with the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce to establish the Reds Hall of Fame in 1958. Gabe Paul died in 1998 at the age of 88.

GALLERY GUIDE

CASTELLINI FOUNDATION 1869 RED STOCKINGS PAVILION

Located adjacent to the museum, this outdoor monument is a tribute to the team that gave birth to professional baseball and developed a model by which the game is still played. The manner in which Aaron Champion and Harry Wright built the Red Stockings helped distinguish the Cincinnati club from others as it traveled coast to coast and posted a record of 57 wins and no defeats. Adorned with relief plaques representing the 1869 team, the pavilion, created by sculptor Tom Tsuchiya, has quickly become a gathering spot and focal point at the ballpark and the riverfront.

PURSUIT OF A DREAM, PRESENTED BY AFRICAN AMERICAN CAPITAL ENTERPRISES, LLC (AACE)

An exploration into the unique and powerful history of Negro Leagues Baseball, baseball integration, African American Reds greats, the dominant and diverse Big Red Machine, and what your Cincinnati Reds are doing today to provide opportunities for everyone to be part of and benefit from the game of baseball.

REDS BASEBALL THEN & NOW/ 1869 RED STOCKINGS GALLERY

This space houses the oldest artifacts in the museum's collection, rare pieces that date to the start of professional baseball in Cincinnati and an array of artifacts that illustrate the evolution of items associated with fan game day experience including stadium giveaways, tickets, yearbooks and scorecards.

THE JEFF WYLER FAMILY HALL OF FAME THEATER

Over 150 years of Reds history are brought to life through a series of original films presented daily in our custom 90-seat theater. Fans take a seat in the wooden grandstands fashioned after Crosley Field and take in inspirational and entertaining shows on a large 16' x 9' screen and have their Reds knowledge challenged with trivia questions that display on the screen in between shows.

THE WILLIAMS FAMILY CHAMPIONS GALLERY

A showcase of the franchise's World Series trophies set against the backdrop of the stories of these unforgettable teams. This one-of-a-kind space creates an inspirational experience for fans and singular atmosphere for special gatherings or events.

THE REDS TIMELINE

Like counting the rings on a giant sequoia, the tale of the Reds isn't one story but rather a collection of thousands of unique and individual stories interconnected to create a living legacy that continues to grow and develop. The Reds Timeline forms the foundation for every visitor's experience. More than 20 exhibit cases house over 1,000 artifacts and take the visitor on a story-telling adventure through the Reds' rich history like never before.

THE PLAYERS

Every generation of Reds baseball has its prodigies, its breakout stars, its heroes—and fans travel from around the world to relive the amazing moments, get close to where the action took place and try, if only for an instant, to tap back into that sense of wonderment. This is why The Players exhibit exists at the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum. MVP plaques, Gold Glove Awards, game-worn equipment and interactive touch-screen monitors allow fans the ability to reconnect with their heroes, touch and feel elements from the game, and relive special moments.

MARTY AND JOE BROADCASTING EXHIBIT

Broadcasting has been the lifeblood of Reds on radio and on television. From the days the game was first described over the airwaves to today's ultra-high-definition images, the Marty and Joe Broadcasting Exhibit captures it all. Explore this unique history. Hear the great radio calls. See the broadcasters in action. And then step up to the microphone in the radio booth and see if you have what it takes to make an award-winning radio call or handle the desk duties in the Bally Sports Studio. It doesn't end there. Your radio or TV performance is recorded and will be emailed directly to you for you to share with all your friends.

THE HALL OF FAME GALLERY: A 360 DEGREE EXPERIENCE

A truly unique way to highlight the 90 Hall of Famers, users can explore the original bronze plaques and bring an honoree's story to life in a 360-degree video highlight show. The round room puts you literally in the center of the action and at the controls and stands as one of the museum's most talked about experiences.

BALLPARKS

Fans attending a game in the original Union Grounds in 1869 would have had a hard time fathoming today's ballparks. Since that time, the Reds have called a number of ballparks home, each uniquely designed for the team and the fans at the time. These homes of the Reds have hosted World Series, All-Star Games, Major League firsts and lasts, but most of all, they became the places where every Reds fan wanted to be. Today, each of these venues still sits in the hearts of true Reds fans. In Ballparks, visitors will see and understand the impact these homes of the Reds have had on the game, the team and the memories of so many.

GEORGE AND KIM VINCENT BASEBALL CARD ARCHIVE

Baseball cards are as integral to the game's past as leather is to a baseball. In Baseball Card Archive, fans can flip through over 5,000 cards dating back to the start of the game, review the digitized card archive of every card in our collection, and even make their own baseball card to share electronically. This exhibit celebrates the great baseball card tradition that has connected generations of baseball fans of all ages.

KEEP KIDS SAFE FROM BRAIN INJURY

WHAT IS A CONCUSSION?

A concussion is a brain injury after a fall or hit to the head that affects how your brain works.

SIGNS/SYMPTOMS

Headache

Double or blurry vision

Vomiting or nausea

Confusion or trouble focusing

For a complete list of symptoms, visit us online.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU THINK YOU HAVE A CONCUSSION

Tell your coach, parent, or athletic trainer if you think you or one of your teammates may have a concussion. You or your teammates won't play your best if not feeling well, so it's important to report symptoms.

Ohio's Return-to-Play law (ORC 3313.539 or ORC 3314.03) requires that Ohio youth athletes who are suspected of sustaining a concussion, must be removed from practice or play. More information is available at <https://codes.ohio.gov/ohio-revised-code/section-3313.539>

FRED HUTCHINSON

BORN: Aug. 12, 1919 BIRTHPLACE: Seattle, WA
DIED: Nov. 12, 1964 NUMBER RETIRED: 1965

Fred Hutchinson was a popular and successful manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Hutch's 466 managerial victories and .543 winning percentage rank him among the best managers ever to wear a Cincinnati uniform. The Reds exceeded the 90-win mark in three of his six seasons at the helm, and in 1961 they took the National League pennant.

But the joy of a first-place finish was matched only three years later by the sadness of Hutch's illness and early death. The courage, class and determination that Fred exemplified all his life were all the more evident during his battle with cancer. Hutch stepped down as Reds manager in 1964, and he died that November.

Today, Hutchinson's legacy lives on in the worldrenowned Cancer Research Center that bears his name, and in The Hutch Award. It is given annually to a Major League ballplayer who "best exemplifies the character and fighting spirit of the late Fred Hutchinson...who overcomes any form of adversity." Past winners include Ray Knight, Ron Oester, Eric Davis, Bobby Tolan, Johnny Bench and Sean Casey.

BORN: Dec. 7, 1947 BIRTHPLACE: Oklahoma City, OK
NUMBER RETIRED: 1984

Cincinnati's uniform No. 5 belongs to perhaps the greatest catcher to ever play in the Major Leagues. The standard by which all other catchers are measured, Johnny Bench ended his storied 17-year career in 1983 after earning two MVP Awards, 10 Gold Gloves and 14 trips to the All-Star Game. He was inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1989.

Bench began his career with a bang, earning Rookie of the Year honors in 1968. Able to control a game on both sides of the plate, he ended his career with a .267 average and 389 homers (327 as a catcher, which at the time stood as a record for NL backstops). He twice led the league in home runs (in 1970 with 45 and in 1972 with 40) and three times led the NL in RBIs (1970 with 148, 1972 with 125, and 1974 with 129).

On the Reds' all-time batting list, Bench ranks first in homers and RBIs (1,376), second in extra-base hits (794) and total bases (3,644), fourth in runs scored (1,091) and doubles (381) and fifth in hits (2,048).

JOE MORGAN

BORN: Sept. 19, 1943 BIRTHPLACE: Bonham, TX
DIED: Oct. 11, 2020 NUMBER RETIRED: 1998

Joe Morgan, a 10-time All-Star and five-time Gold Glove second baseman, was elected to the Reds Hall of Fame in 1987 and the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1990. A two-time MVP Award winner, Morgan spent eight seasons with the Reds from 1972-'79 during the glory days of the Big Red Machine.

He was named the NL's Most Valuable Player in 1975, when he guided the Reds to a World Series victory over the Boston Red Sox. Morgan batted .327 with 67 stolen bases that season. He turned the trick again in 1976 when he received National League MVP honors as the Reds roared to their second straight World Series Championship with a four-game sweep of the New York Yankees. Morgan batted .320 in 1976, with 60 stolen bases.

Morgan is the Reds' all-time stolen-base leader (406), and his 266 home runs as a second baseman rank third in baseball history behind Jeff Kent and Ryne Sandberg. He finished his 22-year professional career with 268 homers, 1,133 RBIs and 689 stolen bases for the Astros, Reds, Giants, Phillies and Athletics.

BORN: Feb. 22, 1934 BIRTHPLACE: Bridgewater, SD
DIED: Nov. 4, 2010 NUMBER RETIRED: 2005

George "Sparky" Anderson was inducted into the Reds Hall of Fame on June 3, 2000. In July of that summer, he was inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown.

Anderson was named National League Manager of the Year in 1972 and American League Manager of the Year in 1984 and '87. He went 2,194-1,834 (.545) in 26 Major League seasons with the Reds and Tigers. From 1970-'78 he led the legendary Big Red Machine to an 863-586 record (.596), five NL West Division titles, four pennants and two World Series championships. His '75 and '76 teams combined to go 210-114 (.629) and became the first NL franchise in 54 years to win consecutive world championships. He is the Reds' all-time leader in victories (863) and winning percentage (.596).

When he won the 1984 World Series with the Tigers, Anderson became the first of only two managers to win a World Series in both leagues (Tony LaRussa, 1989 A's & 2006 Cardinals). Anderson's 2,194 career victories during his 26 Major League seasons is the fourth-highest total in history behind Connie Mack (3,731), John McGraw (2,763) and Tony LaRussa (2,297). He is one of only five managers to participate in 4,000 games (4,030), including Mack (7,755), McGraw (4,769), Bucky Harris (4,408) and LaRussa (4,286).

Barry Larkin was a 12-time National League All-Star, five times was voted to the All-Star Game's starting lineup, nine times was named to The Sporting News' NL All-Star Team and three times was named to The Associated Press' Major League All-Star Team. In 1995 he was the National League's Most Valuable Player and four times was the Reds' regular-season Most Valuable Player, including their 1990 World Series championship season. He won nine Louisville Silver Slugger Awards and three Rawlings Gold Glove Awards.

The Reds' captain from 1997 through his final season in 2004, Larkin finished his 19-year career with a batting average of .295 in 2,180 games and nine times hit at least .300. In 1996 he became the first shortstop in Major League history to produce 30 homers and 30 steals in the same season. In 2008 he was inducted into the Reds Hall of Fame, and in 2012 Larkin became the third player and fifth Greater Cincinnati native inducted to the National Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown but the first voted in by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The '75 and '76 Reds combined to go 210-114 (.629) and became the NL's first franchise in 54 years to win consecutive World Series titles.

He was voted the Reds' MVP in 1981. Concepcion was named team captain in 1983.

WOMEN IN BASEBALL

Dinsmore

The Dinsmore Women in Baseball Exhibit presented by Rosie Reds explores the multifaceted and impactful contributions women and girls have made and are making to America's National Pastime as players, fans, broadcasters, writers, coaches, managers, owners and executives.

It is a story that dates to the early days of the organized game and one that continues to evolve in the present day.

The exhibit explores the many obstacles that women and girls have overcome and still struggle against to be a part of the game they love, and highlights many of the groundbreaking individuals, achievements and events that serve as inspiration to all those striving to make a dream come true.

Conceived and curated by baseball historian John Kovach, the exhibit features over 200 artifacts in the Hall of Fame's main gallery.

THIS EYE-OPENING EXHIBIT REVEALS MANY STORYLINES OF WOMEN IN BASEBALL, NOT JUST PLAYING, BUT THEIR IMPACT AND INFLUENCE ON THE GAME YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND IN THE FUTURE. VISITORS WILL BE CAPTIVATED BY THIS VIRTUALLY UNKNOWN HISTORY THAT UNDERSCORES THE UNIVERSALITY OF THE SPORT WHILE BEING INSPIRED BY THE FEMALE PIONEERS WHO HAVE AND ARE PAVING THE WAY FOR OTHERS.

THE REDS HALL OF FAME & MUSEUM CHAPTERS

is a network of Reds fans and baseball enthusiasts who come together to help promote the past, present and future of baseball, all while being a member of the best team Hall of Fame in the country. The Chapters support and promote the mission of the Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame and Museum: Celebrating Greatness, Preserving History, and Providing Inspiration. This is reinforced with functions for members of the Chapter in outlying areas in Reds Country attended by representatives from the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum with special guests including baseball authors, sports writers or sports hosts, and/or former Reds players. Chapter functions occur all year long.

For more information on Chapters and Reds Hall of Fame and Museum membership, please call Sherry Rowland at (513) 765-7926.

RELIVE REDS HISTORY WITH THE LEGENDS REMEMBERED PROGRAM!

This interactive program brings Reds history to life for seniors in retirement communities and VA Medical Centers, including baseball artifacts, a mascot visit, and an appearance by a Reds special guest, as well as a private group tour of the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum, presented by Dinsmore.

For more information, contact Dee Taylor at DTaylor@reds.com or (513) 765-7931.

THE CINCINNATI REDS HALL OF FAME AND MUSEUM OFFERS EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMMING FOR VARIED GRADE LEVELS.

Students who participate in “Extra Innings” programs, presented by Ohio’s 529 Plan, will enhance their visit to the Hall of Fame and discover how baseball plays a role in social studies, mathematics and science curriculums. Enjoy these fun-filled, lively and educational programs that are correlated to the Common Core State Standards.

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALLGAME!

pre-K–2nd grade (30 minutes in length)

This is a wild and wacky introduction to the world of baseball! Learn baseball basics, shapes and colors as you build a Major League baseball diamond. Use musical instruments to tap out a rhythm to “Take Me Out to the Ballgame” in your very own Baseball Orchestra! Baseball story-time rounds out this silly program for baseball’s youngest fans.

HOME RUN HISTORY

2nd–3rd grade (45 minutes in length)

Baseball has always been America’s pastime, but it certainly has changed along the way! Huddle together in teams to play the Hall of Fame’s version of “Baseball Jeopardy!” This quiz show-style game asks you to figure out how communication, transportation and events in American history have changed the game of baseball. A great experience that brings social studies concepts to life while having lots of fun!

BUILD A BASEBALL TEAM

3rd–12th grade (90 minutes in length)

In this math-focused program, you must work with your fellow students to create the next championship baseball team. Using budgets and statistics from Major League Baseball, compare players’ strengths, weaknesses and salaries to assemble a nine-man team. Then, present your team in a “press conference” and use math to figure out whose team is the best! Who would have thought the economics and mathematics of baseball could be this much fun?!

THE SCIENCE OF BASEBALL

2nd, 5th & 6th grade (60 minutes in length)

What does science have to do with baseball? Does science really affect what happens on the baseball diamond? Become “baseball scientists” to find out! Grab a clipboard, pencil and lab sheet to help the Hall of Fame conduct experiments that test force, friction and air density. Discover the truth about science and how baseball players couldn’t live without it!

REDS ON THE RADIO!

3rd–8th grade (60 minutes in length)

Travel back in time to 1940, when the Reds won the World Series and radio reigned supreme! Evaluate primary source documents to discover just how life in Cincinnati has changed over the years. Hear an early children’s radio program, 1940s dance music and Game 7 of the World Series. Study other key documents, and then complete your visit by creating a primary source of your own: a Reds radio broadcast! Take your CD recording back to the classroom (one copy provided to teacher) and celebrate your own history!

MARKETING AND THE CINCINNATI REDS

7th–12th grade (60 minutes in length)

Serving as a great enhancement to high school sports marketing courses, this program introduces students to sponsorship, advertising, and promotional elements associated with a professional sports franchise like the Cincinnati Reds. After a short presentation that exposes students to the major aspects of sports marketing, participants are tasked to design a creative marketing strategy surrounding a potential promotional item at Great American Ball Park.

SCHOOL GROUP RATES

- $3 Hall of Fame general admission per student
- $5 Hall of Fame general admission per adult
- $2 “Extra Innings” education program per student (adults free)

GREAT AMERICAN BALL PARK

Located on the winding banks of the Ohio River in downtown Cincinnati, Great American Ball Park serves as the home of the Cincinnati Reds, baseball's first professional franchise. The ballpark officially opened on March 31, 2003, making 2023 its 21st big-league season.

While its location provides for breathtaking views of the riverfront, northern Kentucky landscape and downtown Cincinnati, Great American Ball Park also pays tribute to the Reds' rich history. Crosley Terrace statues depict Reds legends Ted Kluszewski, Ernie Lombardi, Joe Nuxhall and Frank Robinson, while a bronze likeness of Johnny Bench stands outside the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum. A Joe Morgan statue was unveiled off front in 2013 to honor the Hall of Fame second baseman and was accompanied by a statue of his Big Red Machine teammate and fellow Hall of Famer Tony Perez in 2015. And in 2017, Pete Rose joined his teammates with a statue of his own, rounding out the "Big Four" statues from the Big Red Machine series. Famous-dates banners along Johnny Bench Way also remind fans of many historic moments in club history. Inside the park, the Italian-marble mosaics, the "toothbrush" light towers, Power Stacks, Bootleggers façade, and the Sun/Moon Deck are just a handful of features that give this modern marvel a truly historic influence.

In addition to these nostalgic touches, Great American Ball Park boasts a number of modern amenities to enhance the fan experience. In-game features come to life on the high-definition video boards in left and right field and display systems throughout the ballpark. A giant video wall greets fans as they enter through the Crosley Terrace gates, while clubs, renovated suites and other unique hospitality areas provide guests with luxurious surroundings. Additions in recent years include the BetMGM Sportsbook, Boone County Bourbon Press Club and TriHealth Family Zone, among many others.

Union Grounds (1869–70)

Union Grounds served as the first home of baseball's original professional team. The park was located near the area now occupied by the Museum Center in the Union Terminal train station. Anchored by a grandstand called "Grand Duchess," the park could seat up to 4,000 fans.

Avenue Grounds (1876–79)

The Reds headed two miles north from Union Grounds to erect Avenue Grounds, which featured a grandstand that could seat up to 3,000 fans. The ballpark was approximately four miles from the heart of the city's population, so horse-drawn streetcars and trains were a popular way to travel to the park.

Bank Street Grounds (1880–83)

The Reds moved closer to the city with the opening of Bank Street Grounds prior to the 1880 season. The ballpark was located on the north side of Bank Street, south of Western Avenue and just west of McLean Avenue, and could seat up to 4,000 fans. Innovative scoreboard features included players' names and out-of-town scores.

League Park (1884–1901)

Originally called American Park (in reference to Cincinnati's membership in the American Association), the park was renamed League Park (in reference to the National League) in 1890. The park featured a covered grandstand with leather-cushioned seats and open seats along the first- and third-base sides.

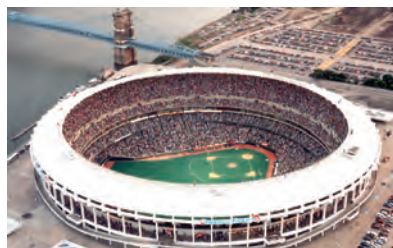

Palace of the Fans (1902–11)

Following a major fire, the Reds rebuilt the main grandstand of League Park in 1902. Today, baseball historians refer to the updated facility as Palace of the Fans. The park featured an illustrious grandstand with pillars and columns carved by hand, as well as 19 fashion boxes (much like opera boxes) and inexpensive field-level seating.

Redland/Crosley Field (1912–70)

Originally named Redland Field and renamed in 1934, Crosley Field was the first Reds ballpark to feature a double-decked grandstand. The facility, located at the corner of Western Avenue and Findlay Street, was the site of baseball's first night game and hosted Cincinnati's first World Series Championship team.

Riverfront Stadium/Cinergy Field (1970–2002)

The Cincinnati Reds shared Riverfront Stadium with the NFL's Cincinnati Bengals until 1999. The multipurpose stadium, which could seat approximately 56,000 fans, was considered state-of-the-art upon its opening in June 1970. The facility hosted five pennant winners and three World Series Championship teams.

Great American Ball Park (2003–Present)

On July 7, 2000, Great American Insurance Company, one of the oldest insurance companies in the United States, and the Cincinnati Reds, America's first professional baseball team, joined forces by announcing a 30-year agreement under which the new home of the Reds would be called Great American Ball Park. The facility, now with room for more than 45,000 fans, opened in 2003 and includes a variety of seating and dining options and an array of historical elements scattered throughout. Installed in 2009 were Daktronics high-definition 16-mm video display systems which included a videoboard in left field, a fascia board in the outfield and along the baselines, an out-of-town scoreboard in left and MLB standings in right. In 2015, a second HD videoboard was installed in right field. For 2020, the Reds made upgrades across the board. A high-definition 13-mm HDR video display system was installed, including a new and improved 215-foot-by-40-foot main videoboard in left field. A videoboard was also added to the Batter's Eye. Plus, the scoring system was replaced with Scorepad which provides in-game, season and career stats along with statcast data and advanced statistics.

WITH

Dr. Timothy Kremchek, Orthopedic Consultant for the Cincinnati Reds, spoke about some of his favorite memories after spending 26 years as the Reds Team Doctor.

Q: How did your start with the Reds come about, and what was that interview like?

A: It was something that I had been thinking about for a long time. Coming out of my fellowship and taking care of the Cincinnati Cyclones in the International Hockey League, they were pretty high profile in this town at that time, drawing 11 or 12,000 people a game at Cincinnati Gardens. But my ultimate dream was always the Reds, so I'd always thought about how I wanted to do it if I had the chance. And I had a plan in my mind of what I wanted to do after training with Dr. Jim Andrews and seeing the players that would come down to Birmingham during that year I spent with him.

In the interview I shared my plan of what I wanted to do as far as develop a sports medicine program, get our arms around the minor leagues, and some other things. It was something that was unheard of at the time as far as coverage of the team. I spent three hours with Jim (Bowden) for the interview. I said, "I'll come to every game," and he goes, "I don't believe you." I said, "Give me a one-year try." And for the first probably 22 or 23 years, I was virtually at every home game and went on three or four road trips a year. I was in spring training for a total of three or four weeks a year. So I really engulfed myself and made taking care of the Cincinnati Reds not a job, but more of a hobby. And I calculated that I probably covered over 2,200 Reds baseball games.

Q: It was such a high-profile job, I'm sure it had to be a little daunting going in knowing that you're kind of under pressure. Do you remember what it was like when you first met the players or your first interaction with them?

A: I remember getting the call from Bowden about a week after we met telling me I got the job, and it was in the newspaper on December 12, 1996. And right then I was kind of shell shocked, and I had to get prepared because I had a whole plan. I didn't know what to expect necessarily. I knew that they had a need and a want to really improve their medical program. And I was a young guy, I was 34 years old. I remember going to Plant City (for spring training) and we stayed at the Ramada Inn, which was no great shakes. And I walked into the clubhouse and all the players were standing around, and Bowden was speaking. Barry Larkin walked across the room, shook my hand, gave me a hug and said to everybody, "I'm glad you're here." At that moment I knew I was in the right place. I knew that this was something that I could do.

Q: What are some of your favorite memories—that you're able to share—from being around the Reds clubhouse for so many years?

A: I remember running the bases with Deion Sanders. I told Deion I didn't think he was that fast, I was chiding him and teasing him. So we had a race to home plate, but I started from second base while he started at home. He set up the stakes and a bunch of players watched. And he still beat me around the bases. He flashed that million-dollar smile and just said, "I got you Hollywood."

I'll also never forget one time I'm working out at Riverfront Stadium and suddenly Pete Harnisch screams, "Doc, Larkin's down!" So I run back to get my clothes on, and they had cut my underwear in half. Then I put my tie on and it broke, and they were all sitting behind the wall watching and laughing because they knew I had to run out and help the guy. But if you don't like somebody and don't trust somebody, you don't do things like that. So it was all in good fun.

Dr. Kremchek's son, Teddy, with Ken Griffey Jr.

Q: You must have accumulated some special memorabilia over the years from all the players you've worked with and operated on. Do you have any favorites?

A: I've got a lot of game jerseys, gloves and other things from guys like Barry Larkin, Ken Griffey Jr., Scott Rolen. It was funny, Griffey had a group of pictures from when he was with Seattle of him catching a ball over the wall and throwing the guy out at home against Detroit. And it was a series of seven large pictures. He called the guy from Sports Illustrated, got them blown up and sent them to me. And the last one he signed, "The only other guy that could have done this wears a cape," meaning Superman. I laugh about it because he sent me these giant pictures that are in my office, but it cost me $7,000 to frame it. Thanks for the pictures, but it cost me seven grand!

Q: What are you going to miss most about being in a role that you held for 26 years?

A: It's going to be the people. All the relationships you form, seeing everyone on a daily basis. Going down and busting chops and having fun in the training room and seeing the guys in a different light than the fans see them on the field. And the guys at work like Gary Wahoff, the Stowes, I've known all these guys for over 25 years.

Over these 26 years I've operated on over 700 players at the major and minor league levels. I've operated on guys like Scott Rolen, who is going into the Hall of Fame this year. Hall of Famers like Ken Griffey Jr. and Barry Larkin. Future Hall of Famers like Joey Votto. Members of the Great Eight, who were my heroes growing up. I always wanted to meet Johnny Bench, Pete Rose, Joe Morgan, Griffey Sr., Concepcion and Foster, and I operated on all those guys. When I was a kid, they were my heroes. I just wanted a glimpse of them back then. And now they come to my office, and I consider them good friends. I've operated on them and taken care of their families. It makes me very proud.

This has been quite a journey and the Reds have been such a big part of my life. I did this and continue to do this because I love baseball and I love the Reds. This has been like a dream come true.

REDS PLAYER DEVELOPMENT COMPLEX

3125 S. Wood Blvd.
Goodyear, AZ 85338

In 2010 the Reds moved their spring training and player development operations to the west Phoenix, Arizona suburb of Goodyear.

The club made the move from Sarasota, Florida, where it had trained since 1998.

In addition to the spring training and player development operations, Goodyear serves as the summer home for the Reds' rookie Arizona League affiliate.

Spring training games are played at nearby Goodyear Ballpark, a facility the Reds share with the Cleveland Guardians.

On July 14, 2008 the Reds and the City of Goodyear finalized the terms on a binding use agreement that paved the way for the team to move its spring training facilities there in 2010. The team and city broke ground on November 17, 2008.

The agreement includes a 20-year lease that began in 2010 and two 5-year team options.

The Reds' Player Development Complex on South Wood Boulevard includes a 44,000-square foot clubhouse, 6 full practice fields, 2 half fields and an agility field.

The main ballpark seats more than 10,300 fans, including 500 premium box seats, 8,000 fixed seats and space for 2,000 spectators on a grassy berm in the outfield.

The original plans called for the stadium to be the centerpiece of Ballpark Village, a mixed-use development featuring offices, shops, restaurants, housing, hotels and a conference center.

The Guardians' instructional league team moved to Goodyear in September 2008, while their first Major League spring training camp was held in the new shared facility in February 2009.

Beginning in Spring 2010, 15 Major League Baseball clubs train in Arizona and 15 train in Florida.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS CONTINUING TO BENEFIT FROM 2022 COMMUNITY MAKEOVER

While the Reds Community Fund's annual Community Makeover heads to Madisonville in 2023, the Village of Lincoln Heights is still experiencing the outcomes from last year's Makeover efforts.

Some of the ongoing improvements that have recently been completed from the 2022 Makeover include "Sister Ann's Courtyard," dedicated at St. Monica's Recreation Center on May 3, and a new "Mother's Room" at the Lincoln Heights Health Center, which opened on May 4.

In existence for over 30 years, the St. Monica's Recreation Center is "a ministry for God's children" sponsored by the Sisters of the Transfiguration. The Center acts as a safe haven for children ages 6-16, providing enrichment, recreational, and educational activities.

"Sister Ann's Courtyard" was designed by the Cincinnati Zoo and Director of Planning & Exhibit Design, Dean Violetta. Last year, Dean worked with kids from St. Monica's to get their input on what they'd like to have featured in a new outdoor space, which includes benches, swings, a fireplace and other unique and functional features. Other project work at the facility included the remodeling of the teen room, an interactive mural by local artist Brent Billingsley and technology upgrades.

The "Mother's Room" at the Lincoln Heights Health Center will provide prenatal care and the "Centering Pregnancy" program for local women. "Centering Pregnancy" prenatal care brings expecting patients out of the exam room and into a comfortable group setting. National data has shown that "Centering Pregnancy" decreases the rate of preterm and low-weight babies, increases breastfeeding rates, and leads to better pregnancy spacing. The new space is located on the basement level of the health care center. The private room offers multiple seating options, children's area, kitchenette, exam room and more.

The annual Community Makeover brings together some of Cincinnati's most iconic institutions including P&G, the Cincinnati Zoo, Cincinnati Children's Hospital and GE to make a sustainable impact on a local neighborhood while strengthening youth baseball and softball programs. Since 2010, the collaboration has invested over $10 million and countless volunteer hours into some of Greater Cincinnati's neediest communities. What began as a field renovation project has evolved into a massive community revitalization.
